Haidi's Story

"Volunteering with Burlington Green has improved my life in so many ways!

The impact of activities such as sorting waste and pulling invasive species is immediately visible and it's a great relief to see how much we can achieve together with our hands. Volunteering in invasive species removals and native tree plantings has helped me feel more connected to nature which I carry with me every day. At the same time, being motivated to walk more places and take transit when I can has made me realize how much I love the feeling of walking and getting places on my own without having to learn to drive!"
